Soviets Play Up U.S. Spy Charges

MOSCOW, Jan. 25 (UPI)—The Soviet press is having a field day with charges of illegal CIA spying in the United States.

Reports of CIA men shadowing U.S. citizens, eavesdropping on their telephone conversations and opening their mail are receiving prominent display in Soviet newspapers and magazines.

A Tass news agency report from New York headlined, "U.S.A.—Total Spying," said "spying on suspects and dissidents in the U.S.A. has assumed a genuinely threatening scale in recent years." It attributed the assessment to "the U.S. press."
